CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET. CHICAGO, Oct. 12 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE !- The fluctuations in December wheat to-day were compressed within limits of $1.14% @1.18% -a little less than 4c. May changes did not extend beyond the range of $1.14@1,1734. May discounts went from 1 to 2c, greatly to the disgust of professional straddlers. Indeed, it has not been a profitable season for straddlers, no more than for bears, except for such of them as proceeded backward, like the crab, reversing their usual tactics. There was a wild and excited opening. Within the first three minutes the price of December traveled from $1.17 to $1.18% and back to $1.16, and within five minutes thereafter it had gone back to $1.18 and was on its way down to $3 14%, which was the inside price of the day. 'Any was less yeasty, but it moved from $1.16 to $1.174, while December was making its initial spurt and it worked down to $1.14 with occasional violent reactionary spasms rallying nearly le from the inside. The early strength may not be maptly termed a contin nation of yesterday's boom. Shorts and bull scalpers were more eager buyers. They comprised the fleet-footed quarter horse of spec ulation. Come what might, they were not going to be left. From the jump the crowd was crammed with "long wheat." It came out in a flood and overwhelmed the market. The mass of it was sold at about top figures. The market was smashed flat under pressure and as prices kept sliding down the crowd turned en masse and sold. At the bottom the selling was especially vigorous. It was not until the market looked as though it was going all to pieces, and prices were pointed unerringly to $1.10, that the bears regained a full measure of confidence. It was then that early sellers became buyers, and an immense amount of wheat was absorbed before the crowd "got onto" the changed condition. A scramble ensued, December climbing rapidly to $1.17%, and May following more slowly 1% @2c behind. Speculative values did not hold at the full outside, but they were not again suffered to slip back as far as previously, and trading for the last hour was on a basis of passable steadiness, if that term may be applied to a market that is in a state of continual ner-vousness. Dealings, though not up to the average of some of the big days, are large in the aggregate. The market is not narrow, as some assume. It is a big, broad market and there is less of "gambie" in it than there was when operators of small means were accustomed to take large lines because fluctuations were small. Trade rapidly ad-justs itself to the altered conditions and the creat popular interest in the market is shown by the vastness of the aggregated trans-actions. As for Hutchinson he is still in the market on a large scale, but he gets ten times the credit he is entitled to for the movement of values. He is only one big man among many. The long interest is widely distributed not only in late futures but also in December. The market is unquestionably heavily over-sold for December. That does not mean a

Corn was freely sold at the opening by parties who have been regular buyers of late and declined in early dealings 3/c under the closing figures of the day before. The demand for export continues to take our moderate quantities, as is seen in the figures of clearings from Atlantic ports, and the shipping demand at this point is fairly good, representing a free consumptive use of the articles in home markets at present prices. The speculative values of No. 2, however, are governed more by a fear of manipulation in near months than from any other cause, future large supplies from this year's abun-dant crop influencing mainly futures com-mencing with January of next year. Receipts were within two cars of the exporter quantity and for to-morrow promise to be still larger, being figured at 600 cars. The large receipts helped, of course, to weaken values, but the fear of manipulation causes short sellers to exercise considerable caution The average of the day's business was at lower figures than yesterday and the close was weak at 45½@45½c for November, being a loss of %@5½c since yesterday. May closing level with its price at the closing hour on the "corner," but it means that some of the shorts are exceedingly nervous over the prospect and it may result in the abandon-ment of December for May by scalpers sconer than would ordinarily be the case.

The rest of the market was relatively weaker than December to-day and a good deal of business was done in the way of filling Dealent to a 10c premium over December in previous day.

Speculative trading in oats was confined chiefly to the May option which was more active, ruling irregularly higher, while near futures were quiet and rather duil though firmer, with A.C. cadvance. Under spirited bidding, which was attributed to the shorts. May sold up to 20% after an easy opening with light trading at that figure and a subse quent reaction to 29% @29%c, due to free selling. No. 2 oats in store were %c higher at 24 c, with seller the month at nearly the same figure.

In provisions the day's business was without special feature. Hutchinson pork for January, but later he took advantage of the strong market and unleaded the bulk c. his purchases. In general trading there was no marked activity and for several days past operators acted as if they were undecided about the future of trade. owever, received better support than yes terday, and at the adjournment of 'chang November lard, year pork and January short ries showed an advance of 23/c and November lard, year pork and January pork of 73ce. Cuicago, Oct. 12 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE |- CATTLE -Business was slightly better than yesterday yet trade was slow and prices about the same as for a day or two past. Salesmen that had No. 1 rangers were of the opinion that they were making more money than yesterday, but anything below good in the ranger line sold fully as low as at any time. A few loads of good natives were sold out early at satisfactory prices, some suitable lots making shade more money than yesterday. Medium and common natives remain slow and down to as low as at any time. Native cow stock was not as plentiful as for a few days past and sold considerably better than for any day this week. Texans were in good demand and steady. The stocker and feeder trade continues active with the demand mainly for heavy feeders that are almost good enough for butcher. Light stockers are rather low and as cheap as at any time this year. The receipts include 6,000 Texas and western cattle; medium Texas and western cattle; medium to good steers, 1350 to 1500 lbs, $4.7500 5.25; 1200 to 1350 lbs, $4.0004.50; 950 to 1200 lbs, $3.2503.75; stockers and feeders, $2,00@3.75; cows, bulls and mixed, $1,35@3.00; bulk, $2,15@2.55; Texas and In dian steers, 950 to 1050 lbs, $2.5063.25; cows, $1.75@2.40; western rangers, $3.00@ 4.70; wintered Texans, $2.5063.95.

Hoss—Speculators opened the market with a boom and another advance of 5@10c, they buying nearly all the early receipts, but

ing to follow the upturn they pulled cut and commenced to sell right and left at any price they could get and under the efforts to get out prices went down to about the same as yesterday, so that there was really an advance and decline of 56610c during the day. losing quotations were about as follows Common mixed, $5.806.5.90; good mixed, $0.00 96.10; prime heavy and Philadelphias, $6.10 96.25; light sorts sold largely at $5.87; p. 6.10.

New York, Oct. 12 - [Special Telegram to THE BEE. -STOCKS-The stock market was dull this morning almost to stagnation. New England and cotton oil certificates were the only securities that showed any animation to speak of, the latter being strong and advancing somewhat. Gossip attributed buying in this to parties closely identified with the property, but further than this there was nothing current as to any especial feature. St. Paul & Duluth was weak on light transactions and up to 11 o'clock had declined 134 points. London sent some buying orders, but the market was in a rut and the volume of business up to noon was very small. At 12 o'clock the market was extremely dull and steady at about opening figures. With the foregoing exceptions it proved to be a very dull day throughout. The advance in cotton oil over the opening amounted to 11 points. The rest of the list, except St. Paul & Duluth, which lost 336 points, closed at or near the opening figures. The following were the closing quotations

Graders in a Fight. Ed Ruysschaert, a young Belgian who is engaged with his father in grading for O'Neil, was arrested vesterday for assault. He got into an altercation with Michael Reddington, a dumper in the employ of his father. The dispute arose over a discrepancy in a number of tickets, which it is claimed Reddington had in his possession to give the wagons. During the controversy Reddington referred to the elder Ruysschaert as a thief, and the son promptly knocked him down. Reddington came to the scratch and was knocked down, and as often as he arose he was laid low. Ruysschaert claimed that Reddington forced the matter on him, but taking into consideration that he had struck the first blow he was fined $20 and costs which was promptly paid by his father. The Ruysschaerts threaten to have Reddington arrested far assault, and have employed an attorney to that end.
